

HFS MUN

2024

THE XIII SESSION

Letter from the Secretary-General

Dear Delegates, Faculty Advisors, and my fellow MUN enthusiasts,

I am Neev Ramani and as Secretary-General, it is my distinct honour to invite you to the Hiranandani Foundation School Model United Nations Conference 2024. If you haven't attended HFS MUN in the previous years, I can attest that participating in the XIIIth session of this revered conference will truly be a life-changing experience for you. As for those who've had the privilege of joining us before, I can guarantee that this year's conference promises to set a bar higher than ever before.

HFS MUN 2024 will be held on August 2nd, 3rd, and 4th, 2024, once again in the hallowed halls of Meluha - The Fern. As always, the conference aims to embody the United Nations through a multifaceted approach with 7 exciting new committees:

United Nations General Assembly (UNGA);
United Nations Security Council (UNSC);
Disarmament & International Security Committee (DISEC);
United Nations Human Rights Council (UNHRC);
World Health Organisation (WHO);
League of Nations (LON); and
Indian Crisis Cabinet (ICC),

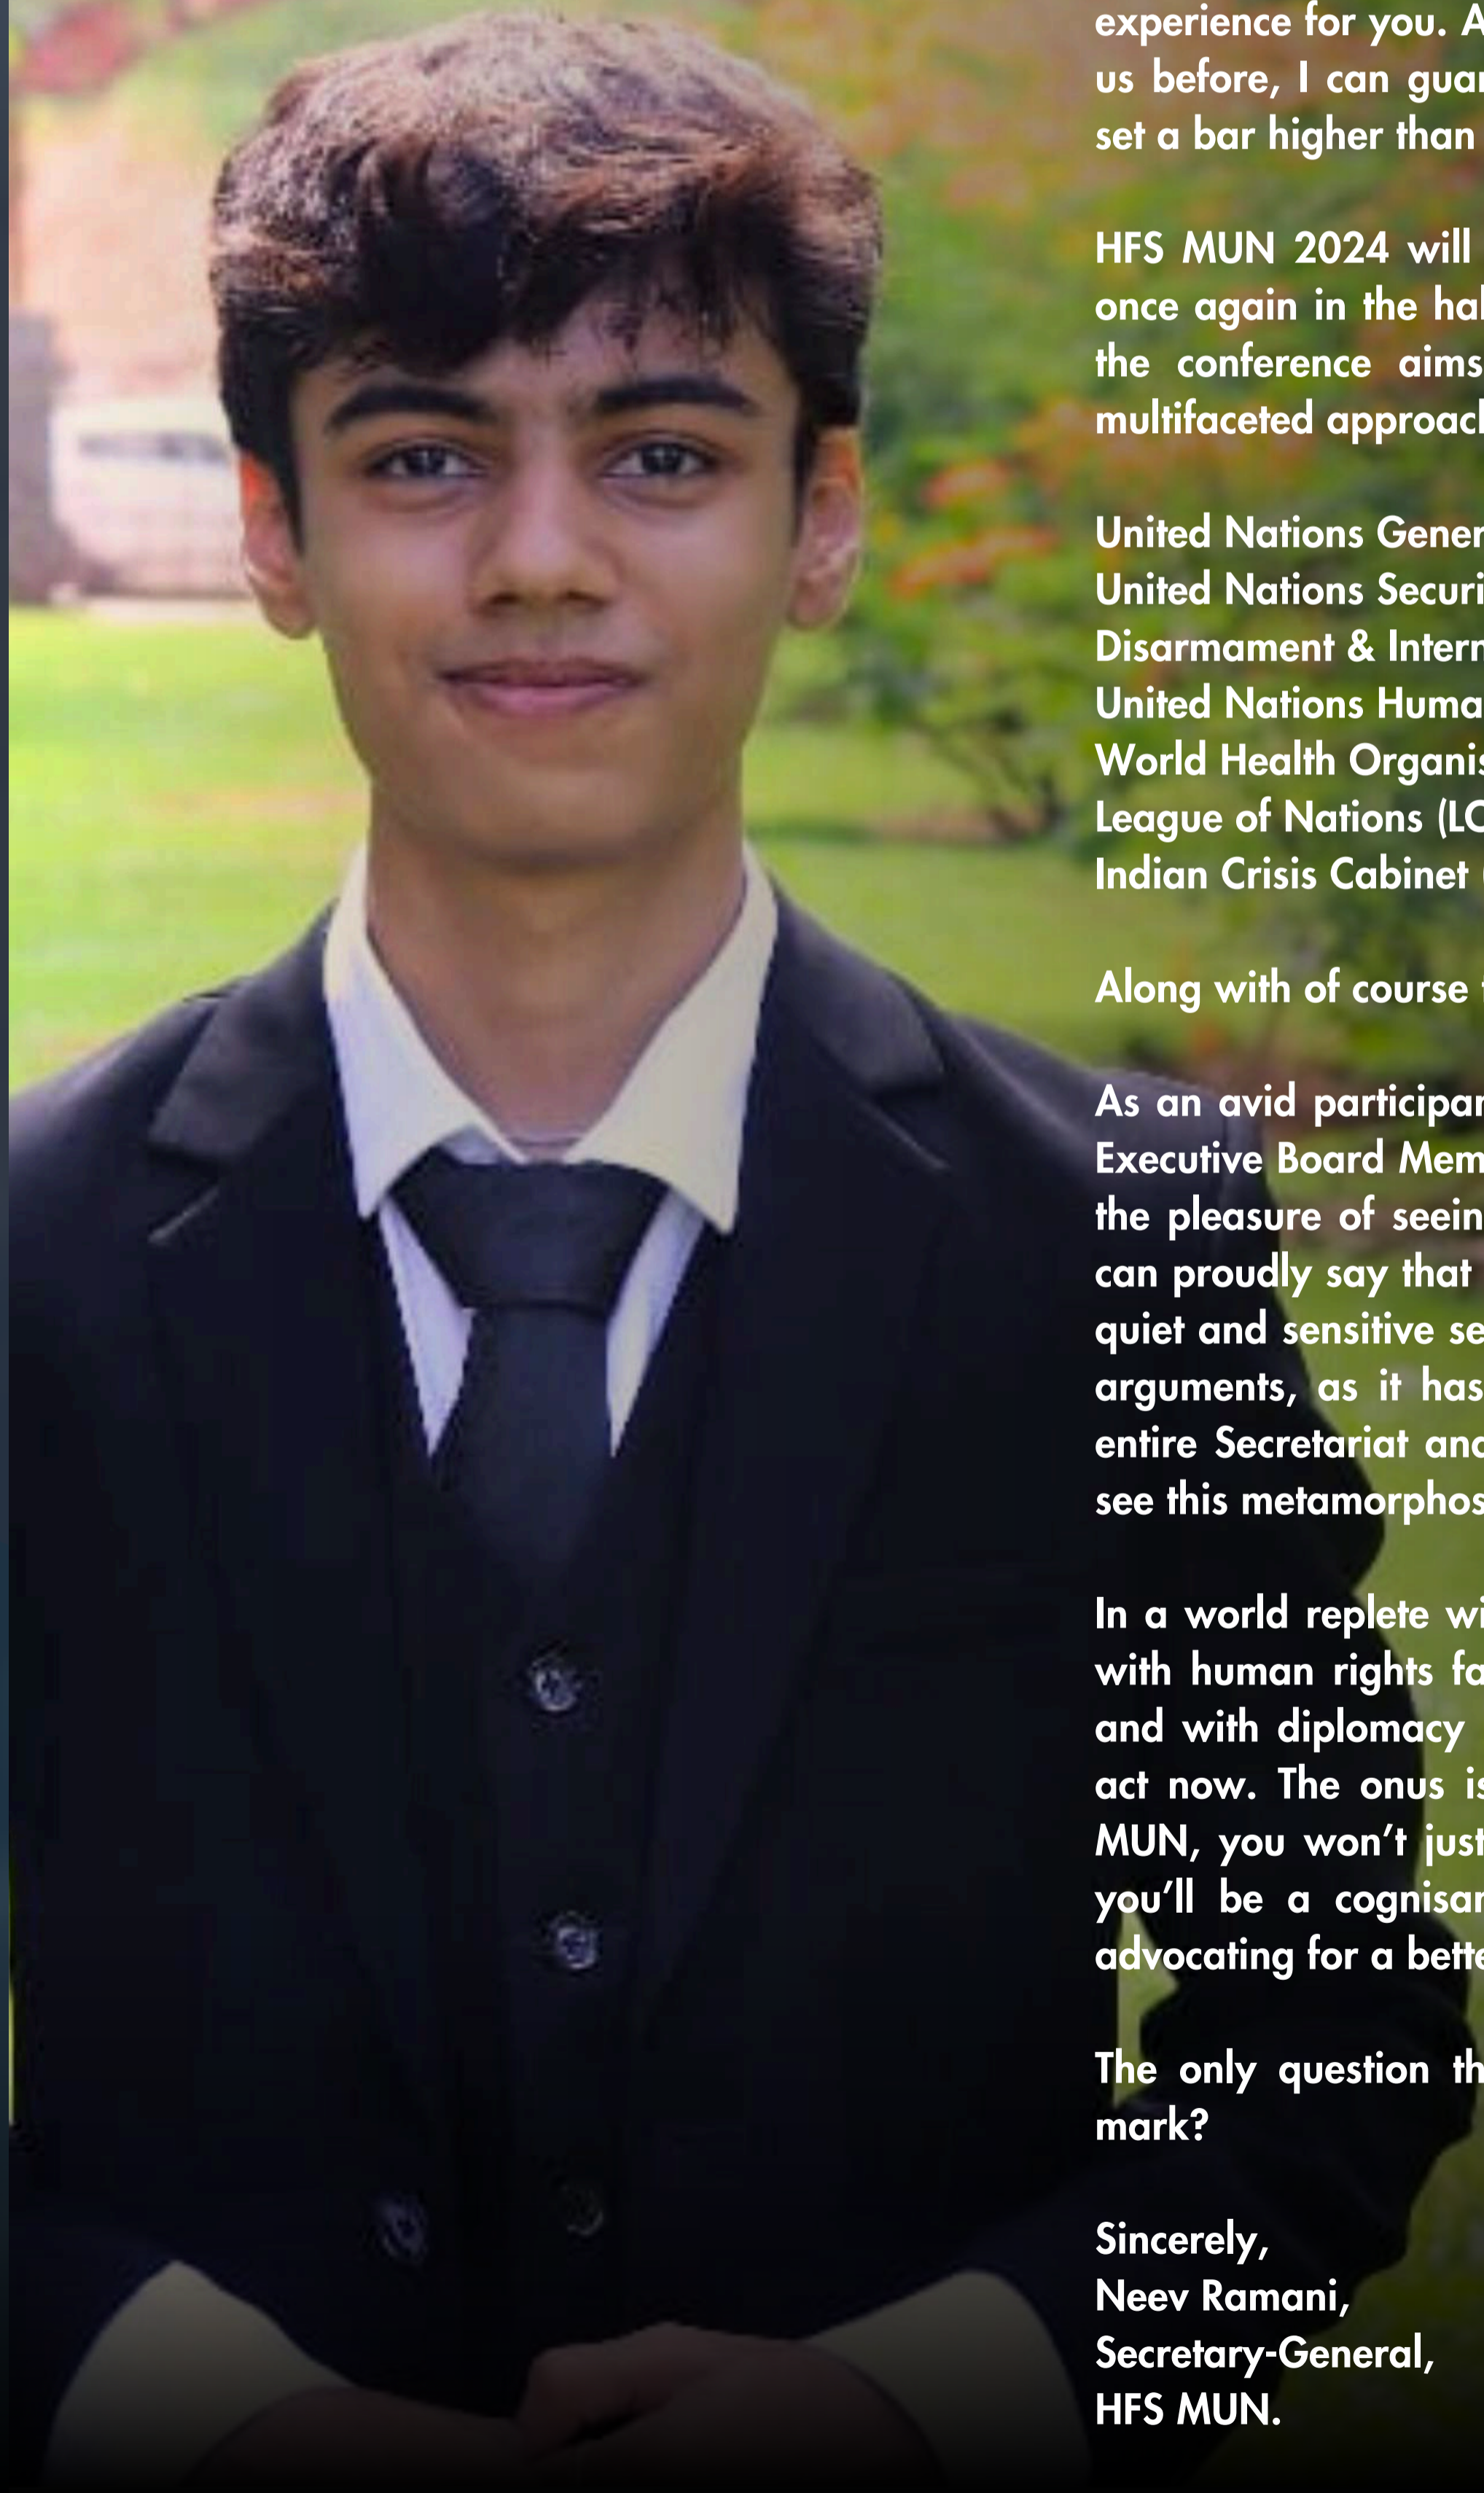

Along with of course the traditional Night Crisis Committee (NCC).

As an avid participant of HFS MUN in the positions of a Delegate, Executive Board Member, and now, the Secretary-General, I've had the pleasure of seeing this conference grow, and with it, myself. I can proudly say that HFS MUN has led to the metamorphosis of my quiet and sensitive self into a bold petitioner of efficient and logical arguments, as it has done for countless others. On behalf of the entire Secretariat and Organising Committee, I, then, invite you to see this metamorphosis for yourself at HFS MUN 2024.

In a world replete with conflicts, with authoritarianism on the rise, with human rights fading away, with hunger devouring the poor, and with diplomacy in crisis above all, we must act and we must act now. The onus is upon us, delegates; it is upon you. At HFS MUN, you won't just be a student, you won't just be a teenager, you'll be a cognisant citizen of the new world order fearlessly advocating for a better world.

The only question that remains is: are you ready to make your mark?

Sincerely,
Neev Ramani,
Secretary-General,
HFS MUN.

Letter from the Director-General

An MUN is not just a conference- it is an opportunity to empower, enlighten and educate the changemakers of the world. When students assume the role of diplomats, they become cognizant of the power that they have to bring about a positive impact in the lives of millions and society at large. I delved into the enthralling world of global affairs during my first MUN back in 2020 and it was a life changing experience for me as I learnt about the violation of human rights and the atrocities committed against the Uyghur Muslims in China. I took a vow that day to use the skills that I had honed to make a difference even outside my committee and MUN conferences. This year at HFS MUN, we will do everything within our power to ensure that each delegate has the most enriching and exhilarating experience ranging from scintillating debate and amusing committee sessions to an exemplary night crisis session and obviously, delectable brownies! I hope that at the end of three days, each one of you gets inspired to create an impact even outside committee!

Tanisha Chadha,
Director-General,
HFS MUN 2024.

The Committees

United Nations General Assembly

The General Assembly, with its roughly 193 members from the United Nations, is like the heart of the UN – serving as the deliberative, policy making, and representative core of the UN. It's basically a mini version of the real UNGA, giving delegates a chance to talk about important discussions and decision-making processes just like world leaders do. So, if you're heading to HFS MUN 2024 and jumping into the General Assembly, you're basically joining in on this global brainstorming session where we all work together to tackle the world's toughest problems.

The Security Council, with its double delegations, is perhaps the most prolific committee at HFS MUN. The P5 nations and all the other countries in the UNSC make up a crew like the SWAT team of the UN – they're responsible for maintaining international peace and security, and they don't mess around. Just like in the real UNSC, delegates at HFS MUN 2024 get to step up as representatives of these powerful nations and hash out all kinds of issues. Think everything from conflicts in the Middle East to nuclear proliferation – it's serious stuff. It's gonna be intense, but hey, that's what real change necessitates, right?

United Nations Security Council

United Nations Human Rights Council

A committee that upholds the United Declaration of Human Rights, UNHRC is where the big guns come out to fight for fairness and equality on an individual level, representing the interest of the global populace. Imagine yourself at HFS MUN 2024, sitting down to discuss how to protect and promote the rights of people everywhere. From refugees and migrants to LGBTQ+ rights and freedom of speech, the agendas on the table are as diverse as they are vital. By jumping into the UNHRC, you're not just playing diplomat for a day – you're becoming a voice for the voiceless and working towards a world where everyone's rights are respected.

The Committees

Disarmament & International Security Committee

The Disarmament and International Security Committee that's been one of delegates' top choices at HFS MUN for quite a while now is all about keeping the peace by, you guessed it, getting rid of weapons and making sure countries cooperate peacefully with each other. At HFS MUN 2024, delegates diving into DISEC are stepping into the shoes of some serious peacemakers. Picture yourself representing countries from all corners of the globe, sitting down, and understanding how to deal with everything from nuclear weapons to cyber warfare and terrorism. It's like being a detective, but instead of solving crimes, you're tackling threats to global security.

In a world that is increasingly endangered by growing epidemics and all other kinds of threats to global health, the WHO is at the forefront of global health efforts, addressing a wide range of health challenges, from infectious diseases to mental health and beyond. A delegate, if he or she is lucky to have been selected for the WHO will have the opportunity to convene with nations around the table to discuss strategies for improving global health outcomes. Whether it's devising plans to combat pandemics, advocating for equitable access to healthcare, or promoting mental well-being initiatives, the topics on the agenda are both multifaceted and crucial.

World Health Organisation

Indian Crisis Cabinet

Inside the hallowed walls of the Indian Crisis Cabinet, delegates will get behind-the-scenes and step into the shoes of India's top decision-makers, confronting dynamic and urgent scenarios tailored to the nation's unique geopolitical context. By immersing yourself in the ICC, you're not just role-playing – you're actively shaping the course of events, exercising leadership under pressure, and fostering diplomatic solutions in the face of adversity. In the ICC, you're not just a delegate – you're a catalyst for change in the midst of an entire country ridden with new crises every other minute.

The Committees

League of Nations

The HFS MUN may be a model simulation, but the League of Nations brings alive all the real-world tasks and troubles. Armies walked the earth, waged wars, did irreversible damages and left. Now, our bright, young, blazer-clad delegates will step out of their polished shoes and into those of some great minds. With fiery arguments, raging rebuttals and unsolved historic dilemmas, this constant crisis committee will keep everyone who attends (or hears) on their toes.
